ARS MNEMONICA

FROM SOUNDS TO WRITTEN LANGUAGE

Manushya ne pehle bolna kaise sikha ye ek kaafi complex aur interesting process tha. Shuruwaat mein, primitive humans ne natural sounds aur gestures ka use kiya communicate karne ke liye. Jaise-jaise samay beetta gaya, in sounds aur gestures ko refine kiya gaya aur specific meanings assign kiye gaye. Yeh evolution thousands of years mein hua.

Initial communication sounds aur body language par based thi. Dheere-dheere, in sounds ko organize kiya gaya aur inme patterns develop hue, jo basic words aur phrases ban gaye. Yeh process zyada se zyada complex hota gaya aur isi tarah se pehli spoken languages ka janm hua.

Bolne wali bhasha ka roop tab diya gaya jab logon ne apni boli ko systematic aur structured banane ki koshish ki. Alag-alag tribes aur communities ne apne unique sounds aur symbols develop kiye jo gradually languages ban gayi. Bhasha ka grammar aur syntax develop hua, jisne communication ko aur zyada effective aur precise banaya.

Likhit roop tab aaya jab manushya ne yeh samjha ki information ko preserve karna zaroori hai. Initially, symbols aur pictographs ka use hota tha jo specific objects ya ideas ko represent karte the. Example ke liye, ancient Egyptians ne hieroglyphics ka use kiya. Dheere-dheere, yeh symbols aur pictographs standardized forms mein badalne lage aur proper scripts ban gayi, jaise Sumerians ne cuneiform script develop kiya.

Jab writing systems aur scripts develop ho gayi, to yeh bolne wali bhasha ka likhit roop ban gaya. Har script ne apne alphabets aur characters develop kiye jo specific sounds aur words ko represent karte the. In likhit forms ne knowledge aur information ko preserve karne aur share karne mein bahut madad ki.

Is tarah se, human communication ne sounds aur gestures se shuruat karke structured spoken languages tak aur fir sophisticated writing systems tak ka safar tay kiya.
